Tony,
 Well, this is
 it. I'm finally gonna be a senior
 now. Aren't you happy? Well, I am! Now you can't beat me up in typing anymore! Haha.
 Party this summer like I know you will. Stay out of trouble be sweet and good luck Next year as a senior!

P.S. Don't think you can still hit me next year cause you can't!

Love You

PARTY!
 ON.

Tony,
 Well there's only one more year for you. It's gonna be fun for you, huh? Well, stay sweet, and cute. Have fun
 this summer.
 Love Ya Always,
 Party Donna
 Nina

Tony,
 Well, we finally,
 made it to the top.
 You a great guy with a lot going for you! I'm glad we've gotten to know each other better and next year we can become better friends.
 Best of Luck

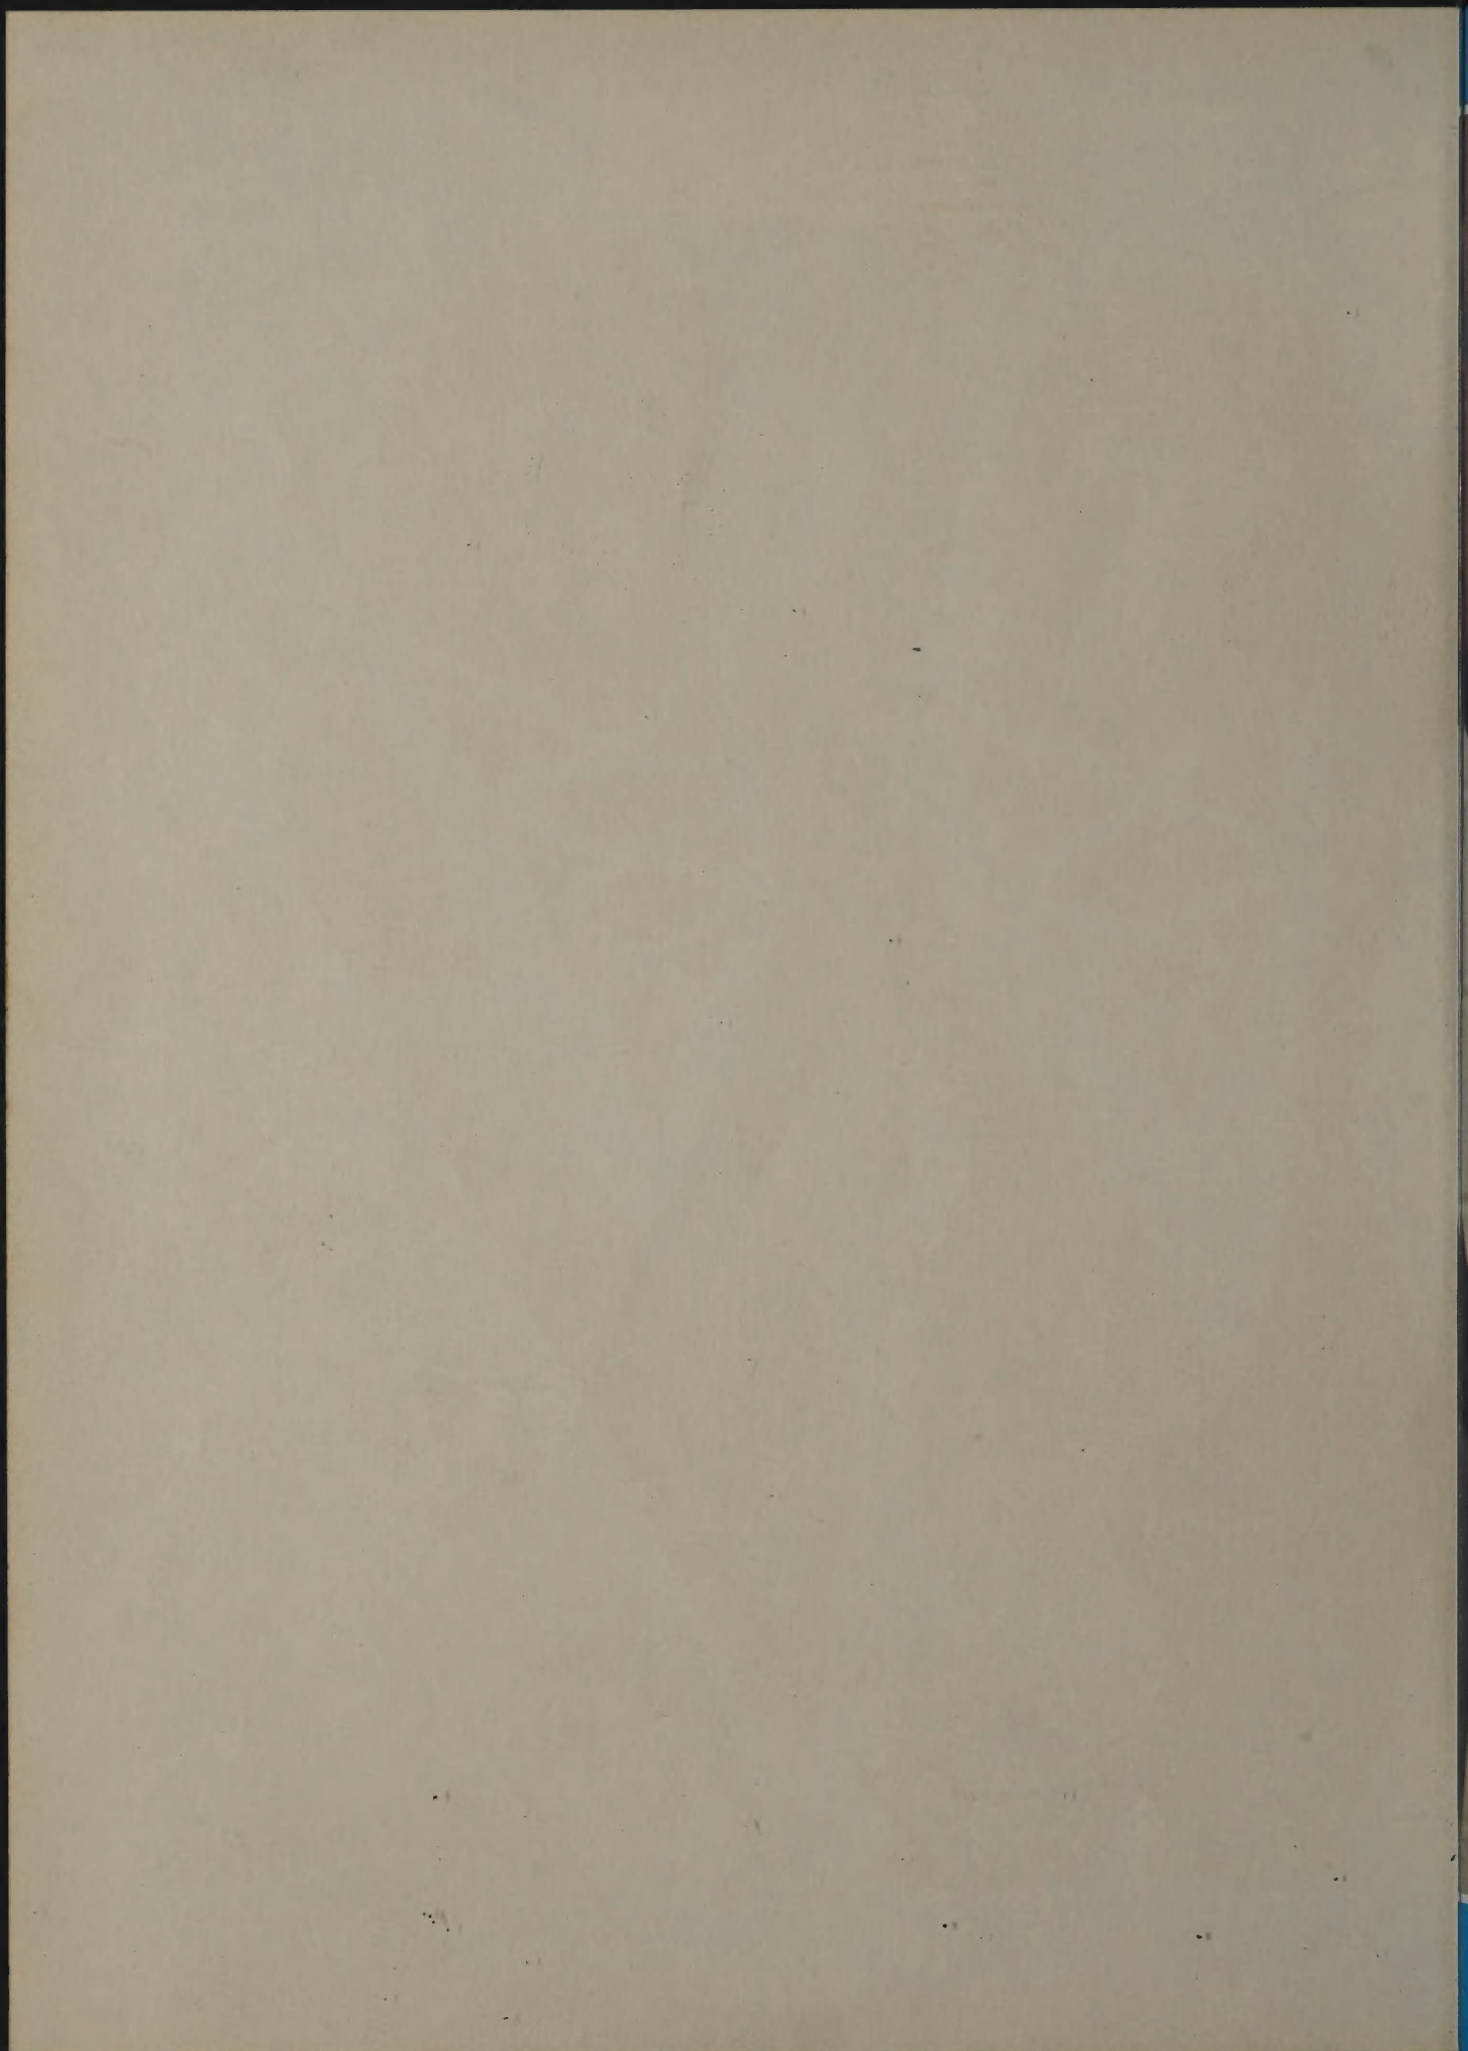

Love Ya

State steps up grade standards

Steppin' up to meet the new standards set by the state legislature in the House Bill 72 seemed to be one of the biggest influences on high school life this year.

The biggest surprise was that, state wide, grades below 70 were failing and locally 93-100 was an A.

Football Friday's were changed too, in that there were no pep rallies for three games, then an after school one before the gym came alive with cheers and yells.

BLAKE BLACKWELL, HOMECOMING ESCORT for Lee Ann Wilhite, is only one of the many boys who hate to wear a tie. Special occasions call for the more formal attire, but Blake manages to see the lighter side of dressing up.

DURING SPIRIT WEEK, the Student Council sponsored a "Little Kid Day." Lara Bonham complete with curls, picks fleas off her stuffed Snoopy.

THE ATMOSPHERE IN A PEP RALLY is different from that of Friday night performances for the band. Freshman Lynn Ballow is interested in the activities on the floor while Penny Burke keeps her eyes on her music.

AFTER THE FCA PRAYER MEETING, Miss Nanda Dozier, sponsor, talks to Buffy Bridges, Tina Young, Lee Ann Wilhite, and Jennifer McMillin. The Thursday afternoon meetings were started this year and open to the entire school.

ALICIA GREEN WEARING her Homecoming mum and Brad Anderson in his cheerleader uniform were part of the red and blue mass that filled the stadium.

JOSEPH BRADFORD CUTS OUT a pattern for a shirt that he is working on in homemaking. He will do everything himself including the sewing. Many guys as well as girls take this elective.

HS OFFICERS ARE GIVEN THE HONOR of saying the prayer before each home football game. Treasurer Gerry Davis gave his prayer before the Mt. Pleasant game.

KRISTY STAPP, ALONG WITH the rest of the Senior Class, spent many hours in the library working on notecards for her senior theme. After that came the tiring process of writing the theme itself before the load was finally lifted as the class turned the papers in to either Miss Betty Ballow or Mrs. Billie Hooper.

DENA BURROWS, RENEE ROSS, MELISSA JOHNSON, KERRY CARROL, and Angie Clamp along with the rest of the line, pep squad, cheerleaders and band make up the colorful border for the Homecoming Court.

CHRISSY YOUNG STAYS ONE step ahead of many students by trying different styles to keep up with the fashion trends of today.

BEFORE EACH GAME, FOOTBALL captains are called on to the field for the flip of the coin. To recognize the seniors, they all go onto the field with the two who call the flip.

ANGELA TURGEON, SCOTT FLOYD, AND Rhonda Welch decorate their car like a lion for the car parade.

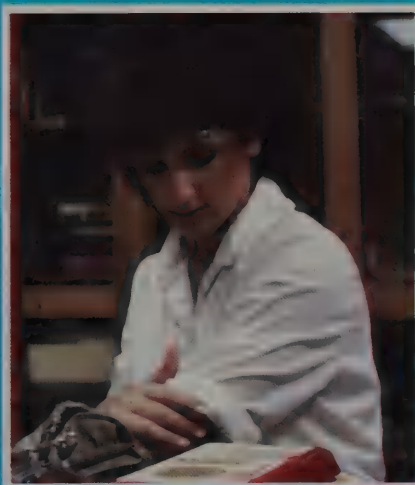

Students get in step through tutoring

Helping students get in step with the new grading system, a tutorial program was offered for the first time to those who needed it.

Programs were required in the areas of science, math, English and social studies but participation was on a voluntary basis.

Classes were held before and after school, and most of the teachers felt that those students who came benefited from it.

BEFORE SCHOOL, STUDENTS CAN usually be found hanging around the mirrors on each side of the library. Wes Bishop focuses his attention on the girls who dressed up for Vogue Day during Spirit Week.

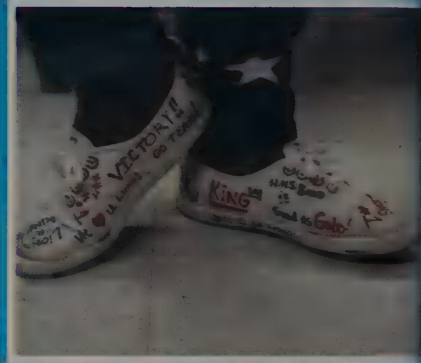

ANNA MONDELLO CLOSES UP HER books and takes a few seconds of quiet time before the dismissal bell.

LORIE HAHN, KERRI CARLSON, Paul Marshall, and Greg Chapman mill around until all four band buses are unloaded, and the group can march to the stands.

KEITH WALTON, COLLIN WADE, Mrs. Tammy Massengale, and Mr. Don Copeland go over the final placements for the grand entrance of the duchesses for the court.

AND THESE SHOES BELONG TO ...? That's right Kim Griffin, who just wanted to show her spirit in an unusual way. Instead of having the same ole' shirt or pants in school colors, she added a variety of words and colors to these plain, everyday, white tennis shoes.

MICHELLE SPARKMAN HAS a definite opinion and expresses it. For emphasis, she shakes her finger.

DEBRA KIMBLY'S THOUGHTS WANDER off to someplace that she would rather be than eating the exotic food in the famous cafeteria.

Extracurricular absences tallied

Students had to think twice before steppin' out of class this year particularly for extracurricular activities.

Missed classes were now counted as special absences with 10 for the year being the limit allowed to each student.

An extracurricular absence was chalked up whether a student missed one class or the entire day. Most found, with careful planning, they could stay within the limit, but it did affect activities conducted on school time.

Also new was a limit of five unexcused absences per semester. Anyone exceeding this could not get credit in the course. However, for the first time, students were allowed to make up work after this type absence.

RACHEL BONHAM SPENT HER sixteenth birthday with friends and a cake. Shannon Shankle and Tina Young wait for Rachel to cut them a piece of her chocolate cake.

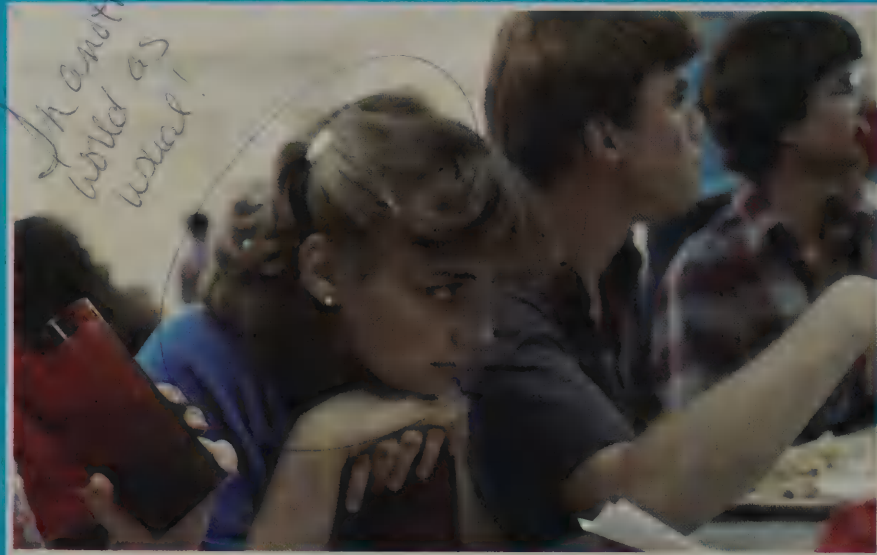

DURING EACH PEP RALLY there is competition between the classes for the spirit stick. The cheerleaders ask each class for their battle cry with the returning yell of "V-I-C-T-O-R-Y." The section with the biggest mouths and the most noise wins the spirit stick for the week.

TAMMY MORRIS, ANDREA MANNING, and Amy Lebeck seem to be interested in something other than the football game, though Shaundra Aille and Denise Robinson pay close attention to the plays in the game.

BENJIE PATTERSON recreates Alfalfa of the Little Rascals for Student Council Kid Day. He sported overalls, freckles and the identifying twig of hair standing straight up.

IS THAT DARRIE LEE? She looks as if she has lost her best friend. Her neighbor, Jeff Anderson, does not even seem to notice her in her moment of need.

ROBIN SADLER, DEANA MANCK and head cheerleader Beth Taliaferro with the rest of the cheerleaders get the spirit up and moving at the pep rallies. Their cheers are words of support and encouragement for the football team and student body.

Even though students kept in step with the new regulations, life outside of class still went on.

They say we can't talk during class, but that's cool, because we can sure pack a lot of conversation in between classes.

A student's life is not all work and no play. What goes on before school, after school and during the weekends is not what the teachers call English, history, science, or math. However, these times are when we work on what we would call our "essential elements."

Dates, Larry G's, the parking lot after school, or a favorite eatin' joint are where students enjoy their life.

We know we have to study to graduate, but who said a little fun will do any harm?

STUDENT LIFE

AFTER BEING CROWNED Homecoming Queen, Tangela Gates rides in Mr. Talmadge Dowden's Excalibur, and waves to her cheering fans as she is majestically driven off the field with her escort Tim Hodge.

CAPTAIN AMY WILDER, lieutenant Kim Turlington, and Janie Candie lead the drill team and pep squad on to the field in preparation for the pre-game Homecoming festivities.

AS SENIOR DUCHESS VALERIE HURST steps down from her chariot of old, her escort Michael Jackson reaches for her hand and waits to present her with a single red rose.

FRESHMEN HOMECOMING DUCHESSSES were Pam Brown and Amy Whetstone. Their escorts for the evening were Lewis Anthony and Steve Miller.

Tangela Gates honored as Homecoming queen

As Tangela Gates stepped up to be presented on to the field as one of the duchesses for the Senior Class, little did she know that within seconds she was to be crowned Homecoming Queen 1984.

Tangela was one of three seniors nominated for the crown, along with Susan Baker and Valerie Hurst. Other duchesses in the court, chosen by popular vote, were Sheri Browne and Kim Bradshaw, juniors; Pam Garmon and Lee Ann Wilhite, sophomores; and Pam Brown and Amy Whetstone, freshmen.

Fitting the theme of the Homecoming, "Chariots of Old," each of the girls were driven into the stadium in antique cars from years past, furnished by community automobile collectors.

When the duchesses were presented to the crowd of admiring onlookers, the escorts presented each with a single red rose given by the Student Council. They then walked the girls on to the field for the exciting pre-game festivities, where the queen was crowned in front of an old-fashioned backdrop surrounded by members of the band, pep squad, cheerleaders and drill team.

Melanie Crim, last year's queen, and Collin Wade, Student Council president, made it official by giving Tangela the crown and bouquet of roses.

The escorts for each of the duchesses were Lewis Anthony, Blake Blackwell, John Culley, Jay Guin, Jeffery Henson, Tim Hodge, Michael Jackson, Steve Miller, and Collin Wade. They were chosen by each of the girls to accompany them to their place on the field.

MRS. TAMMY MASSENGALE, drill team and pep squad sponsor, makes final adjustments to the backdrops. The old-timey man and woman, constructed by Mrs. Dorothy Jo Taliaferro and Ms. Jan Hecker, had to be switched to face each other.

NOMINATED BY POPULAR VOTE, Susan Baker was elected one of the three duchesses for the Senior Class. She was escorted by Collin Wade, Student Council president.

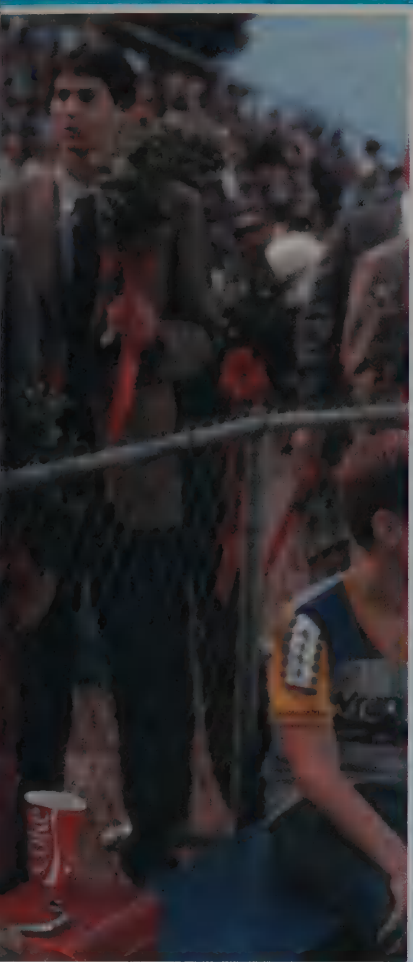

STEVE MILLER, JEFFERY HENSON, Blake Blackwell, along with John Culley, Jay Guin, Collin Wade and Michael Jackson wait anxiously for their turn to escort their duchess on to the field.

REPRESENTING THE JUNIOR CLASS on the Homecoming court was duchess Sheri Browne. Sheri was escorted by Jay Guin, also a junior.

JEFFERY HENSON ESCORTED Pam Garmon on to the field as duchess for the Sophomore Class.

BLAKE BLACKWELL ESCORTED Lee Ann Wilhite, duchess for the Sophomore Class, on to the field for the presentation. Blake and Lee Ann are cousins, and this was Lee Ann's second year on the court.

KIM BRADSHAW, escorted by John Culley, was elected by popular vote as one of the two duchesses for the Junior Class.

THIS WAS THE FIRST YEAR for a mascot since 1977, and Tom Reed made that Lion Spirit rise to every occasion. Tom dressed up his suit with a coat and tie for Homecoming.

"LOOK MOM, NO HANDS!" Kenneth Cook and Todd Craig maneuver Todd's jeep effortlessly in the car parade.

FITTING THE THEME of Homecoming, "Chariots of Old," Keith Walton drove John Woods in a 1932 Model A Ford in the annual Homecoming Car Parade.

Climaxing the end of Spirit Week was the annual car parade. All types of vehicles from Model A's to 4-wheel drives could be seen with posters, crepe paper, shoe polish and balloons all over them as they drove up Highway 64 and wound down North Van Buren.

Honking horns and people hanging on to hoods and hanging out of T-tops, windows, and trunks caught the attention of local shop merchants and pedestrians as the cars drove down South Main.

The parade of pride turned on Richardson Drive and drove past the Middle School with the participants of the parade honking and waving to the students standing outside.

After going through town, the parade finally ended up on the parking lot of Larry G's.

PAULA TAYLOR CAREFULLY picks out a place to stick the crepe paper as she decorated Nicol Johnston's red Trans Am for the Homecoming car parade which concluded Spirit Week.

MICHAEL FREENY JUST COULDN'T stand to not be able to sit in the front seat of Tracye Dansby's car, so he found a place in the trunk where he could pop out at just the right time.

Nicknames used by student body

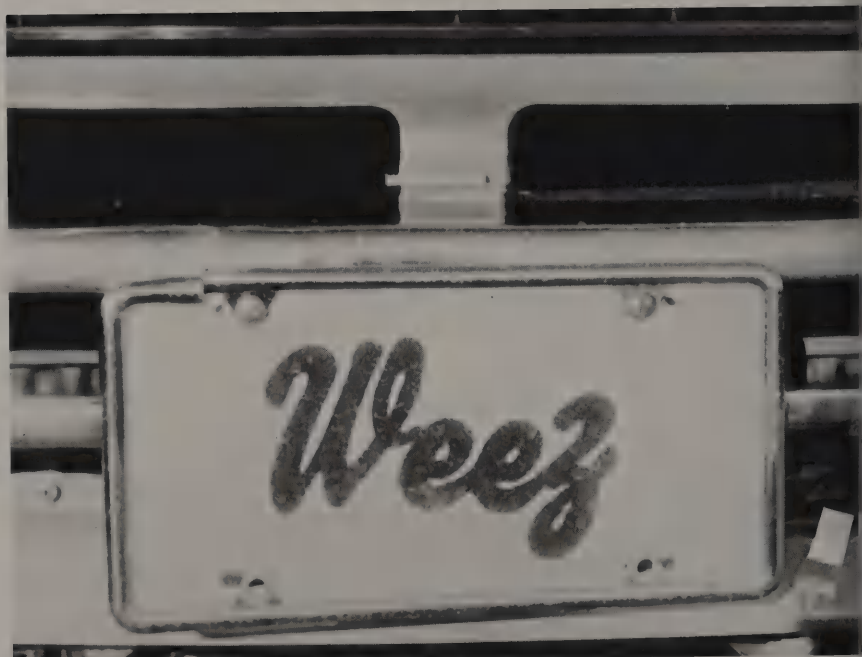

Nickname /'nik,nām/ — a descriptive or familiar name that is used instead of or in addition to one's proper name.

In most cases, nicknames given by friends or family have no definite meaning. They are usually started by what someone says or even by the way someone looks. Either way, nicknames are just plain old familiarities of the people they represent.

Though not necessarily related to nicknames, a few people have names that are too unique to let get by. Take Candee Cain for example. And what about Melinda Soape? Those names just seem to stand out against an everyday John Doe.

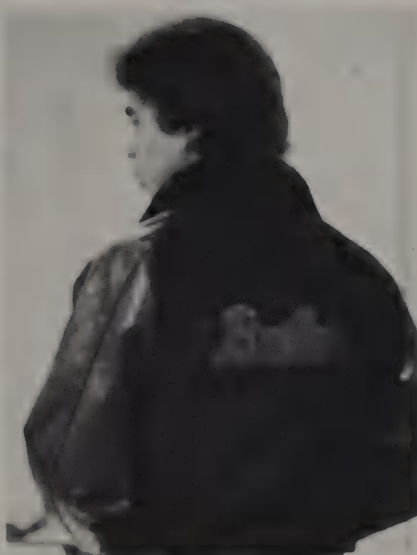

MICHAEL JACKSON, alias "Stickman," stands 6 feet, 1½ inches tall and weighs 135 pounds. His nickname stands out pretty clear to everyone who knows him.

JASON AKIN, known as "Weez" by his closer friends, really gets personal with his license plate that was designed especially for his orange Datsun.

TERRY GRAY, also known as "Bird Dog" by family and friends, tracks down an error in his accounting assignment.

STACY BUNDRICK HAS BEEN called "Buster" for so long that he decided everyone knew him by that name, so he got it made into a patch for his letter jacket.

MOST EVERYONE KNOWS Buffie Bridges by "Buffie" but few know her real name. The cat is out of the bag, Jan.

CANDEE CAIN CAME with her own special name, and it's a wonder that someone hasn't come up with something for Melinda Soape. Melinda and Candee work together on the annual staff alphabetizing mug shots.

Dynamite comes in small packages

Dynamite comes in small packages. And there is a dynamic group of students here who more than make up for any shortage of inches.

"Even if I am short, I can still play basketball," said Jeannie Brooks who is on the Lady Lion Varsity team. "Who wants to have to duck under door facings anyway?" she quipped.

Crystal Townsend plays the cornet in the band. She's probably one of the shortest members ever. Any member of the band can tell you, when marching season rolls around, it's not too easy for a 6-foot bass player to line up and cover down to a 4-foot-8-inch cornet player.

Being a freshman calls for a lot of "baby" jokes just as "shorties" hear some of the same jokes over and over. Roxanne Tandy had double trouble this year since she was a freshman. "A lot of my friends tease me or make jokes about my height. It's o.k. though, because they're my friends and know me."

Becky Bonham is also a freshman and a fellow shorty. She said she doesn't have to hem her pants or skirts, because she goes to "kiddie" shops. "I love it though, really," stated Becky.

Size is not everything, they say — so watch out for the small packages!

LIL' BECKY BONHAM gets a taste of the BIG life at high school. She may be short, but the length of her conversations make up for her size.

KENNETH COOK AND ROXANNE TANNY walk down the halls together. Conversation surely begins, and Roxanne, of course, has to look up.

EANNIE BROOKS, who stands 4 feet, 0½ inches tall, is almost dwarfed by Mrs. Ayree Stokes podium as she gives an oral presentation over King Tut.

CRYSTAL TOWNSEND DIGS into her locker which is almost as tall as she is.

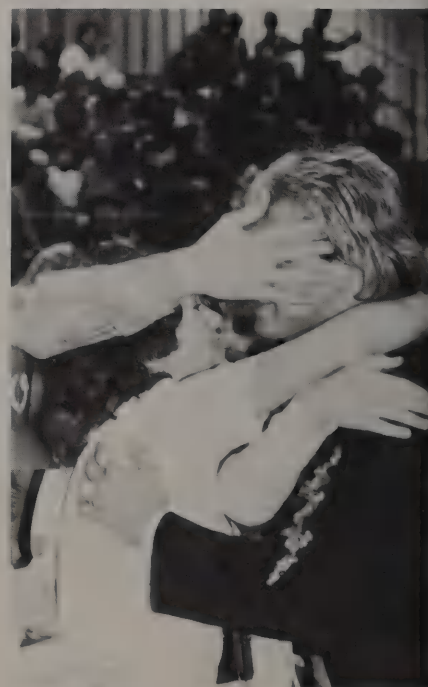

FANS NUMBERING TO 1,000 from the surrounding areas came to support their favorite wrestler.

KERRY VON ERICH, kneeling, and his brother, Kevin pose for one of the many photographs fans can get autographed. Kerry, World Class Wrestler, was on hand Sat., Feb. 16, at the gym. He was here along with Gino Hernandez, One Man Gang, Mark Ragan, The Fantastics and the Midnight Express.

Fans love it!

Wrestling draws crowd

"Kill him!" "Throw that bum outta the ring!" "Oh no, he's hurt!" "Grab his hair!"

This may sound like a hallway brawl, but it's just the enthusiasm generated by hundreds of wrestling fans who watched Kerry Von Erich, the favorite, take on Gino Hernandez, the villain, in the gym when the Athletic Booster Club sponsored a fund raiser in February.

Wrestling, live and on TV, has taken the fancy of many teenagers and adults, particularly women. Female fans went wild when Kerry Von Erich and Gino Hernandez were escorted into the ring by local police. One woman even paid $44 for an autographed portrait of the muscle-bound Erich. (It was mainly a donation to the Booster Club.)

Olympic wrestling it's not, as atomic drops and sleep holds are put on the opponent as well as chairs thrown, and members of their team, or their girlfriends, jumping in to help out.

It may not be the most legal, challenging, or usual type wrestling, but to fans all over East Texas it certainly is the most exciting.

CRYSTAL TOWNSEND GETS a hug

GINO HERNANDEZ PLEADS with the referee as Kerry Von Erich puts a hold on

Ferraro only thrill in presidential election

Overall, 1984 was a relatively dull election year with incumbent President Ronald Reagan and Vice President George Bush being swept back into office. The only excitement was the inclusion of a woman on the Democratic ticket.

Presidential candidate Walter Mondale surprised the nation when he picked Geraldine Ferraro, U.S. Representative from New York, to take the vice presidential spot on the ticket. This was the first time a woman had ever been named on a major party ticket. Many thought it was an attempt to gather the women's vote, but the pair went down hard, taking only Mondale's home state of Minnesota in the election.

Inauguration Day, January 20, set by the Constitution, fell on a Sunday this year and private ceremonies were held in the White House. The plans for the outdoor public inauguration on Monday had to be revised because of a record cold front sending temperatures to a minus 30° wind chill factor. The public ceremony was also held inside.

In local school elections, the voter registration system was in effect for the second year. "Registration went more smoothly this time since we distributed cards through English classes, and students filled them out themselves and returned them," said Mrs. Gay Allen, publications sponsor. Approximately 80 percent of the student body registered with only about 30 percent voting in any election, according to Mrs. Allen.

WALTER MONDALE SMILES as Geraldine Ferraro speaks to the press after their meeting. Ms. Ferraro was the first woman to have a place on one of the major political parties' ticket.

PRESIDENT RONALD REAGAN and Vice President George Bush acknowledge the cheers from the floor of the Dallas Convention Center against the backdrop of an American flag during the final session of the Republican National Convention where they were chosen to head the ticket.

BEING A REGISTERED VOTER, Kathy Richardson marks her ballot for class officers. Tonja Hale and Dione Rowell get checked off by Vicki Moore, election official, and wait their turns.

COLLEEN PHILLIPS checks off Rita Virden and Angela Perry's names on the voter list before they, or anyone else, are permitted to vote.

MEMBERS OF THE ANNUAL STAFF get out of class all day on Valentine's Day to sell messages and deliver them. Students in class wait with suspense at the end of each period to see how many notes they got.

KIM GRIFFIN AND ALAN CONWAY were second runner's-up in the election for Valentine King and Queen. They have been dating steadily for nine months.

DONNA FREEMAN, CORAL ADAMS, and Tammy Douglas buy cupcakes sold by National Honor Society members Sonja Hale and Lisa Hill.

FIRST RUNNERS-UP IN THE ELECTION for Valentine King and Queen were Darin Bassett and Donna Yarborough. They began liking each other around homecoming, almost two years ago.

Valentine Court

SELECTED VALENTINE KING AND QUEEN for this year were seniors Danny Hutto and Kim Turlington. They have been dating for a little over a year.

Hi-Life staff elects couples

About a week before Valentine's Day, the Hi-Life staff holds an election for the entire student body to elect a couple to be Valentine King and Queen. The results are kept secret until the Valentine's Day circulation of the newspaper during sixth period. Danny Hutto and Kim Turlington were chosen as Valentine King and Queen this year.

Valentine's Day is a festival of love. Even at high school, students celebrate this day by sending valentines to their friends as they did in elementary school, through the annual staff's post office. Members of the National Honor Society sold cupcakes decorated to the theme of the day, and the student council sponsored a "Hush Day" where girls could only talk to boys who captured their red construction paper heart.

LANCE GRAY SENDS her friends a valentine message through the annual staff's Valentine Post Office, which is held every year on Valentine's Day.

Steppin' out on weekends makes school days go fast

Washing the car, finding the right outfit to wear, getting some money, blow drying the hair, pressing the jeans, putting on the make-up, and getting ready on time are all necessary for that all-time favorite activity of steppin' out.

Whether it's arranged on the phone or in the hall at school, anticipation of having weekend plans makes the rest of the week go more quickly.

Couples and groups of friends usually end up at Pizza Inn, the Three Star Cinema, Larry G's, a sporting event or just cruising Highway 79.

Taking a bigger step can lead to Longview where these groups dine at Hunans or Red Lobster, shop the mall, dance at Greenville Ave. or cruise Highway 80.

Whether it's with a favorite guy or girl or group of friends, most teenagers like to go steppin' out on the weekend.

DARLENE WEATHERTON POLISHES the wheels of her car to make it look extra special on a Friday night.

DIONE ROWELL PUTS on her make up before going to the show with a couple of her friends.

ERIC ROWELL PULLS on his boot before he leaves to go out on a Friday night.

BLOW-DRYING HER HAIR, Tami Stone gets ready to step out on a Saturday night.

THE FIRST THING ANDY MILLS DOES to get ready for the weekend is wash his truck.

BILL STONE HELPS BOBBIE BRYAN into the car before leaving on their Saturday night date.

THE HEALTH CLASSES HAD to draw posters dealing the topic of drugs. The students had about two weeks to work on them, thanks to the snow. Freshman Shawn Norman shows Mrs. Tammi Bosworth, health teacher, her poster on drugs.

FRESHMEN CHECK OUT the bulletin board for their room number where they are to take their TABS test. This test must be taken by all freshmen and for any student who did not pass any section of the test his freshman year.

AMY COCHRAN, TAMMY BLANTON, AND RENEE DORSEY talk to Mrs. Ruby Johnson, PE teacher, about the rules for putt putt golf. Jennifer Warlick and Diane Bishop wait for their game to begin.

FRESHMEN, SOPHOMORES, AND JUNIORS started scheduling for next year's schedule right after the first semester. Students should have an idea of what they want to take when they go to the counseling center along with alternate courses just in case. James Ray Smith talks with counselor Ronnie Hardin about his classes for his junior year.

Academics were most definitely stepped up this year with House Bill 72 trying to up-grade the educational level of Texas students. The majority of the bill's provisions were aimed at creating higher academic standards state-wide.

All the rules concerning absences, kept students in class more with their noses buried in their books. This may have fulfilled the purpose of House Bill 72, but it certainly did not make a lively year.

At the end of the year, faculty members were gearing up to comply with Chapter 75, the state-wide curriculum that will go into effect next year. Also freshmen and sophomores were informed that they would be required to take an exit test in order to graduate. They were given copies of the test's objectives which their parents were asked to read and required to sign.

While it's true we're here to get an education, activities as well as academics are part of that education and most thought there could have been a better mix of the two.

ACADEMICS

WITH EYES CLOSED, Toby Moon, Dale Clark and Susan Ramsey practice loading film reels in journalism. This gives them a little experience before having to load their own film in the darkroom.

RENEE HARKLESS, GERALD JONES, Scott Stalknaker, Diane Bishop and Willie Candie get help from Ms. Jan Heckler, crafts teacher, before starting their days work.

JEFF GRIFFIN WATCHES the little green arrow that Gary Conway is moving around on the microscope. The arrow is used in pointing out the magnified objects on glass slides.

Labs give students chance to practice textbook ideas

Labs offer hands on experience for students to practice, experiment or expand what they have learned from their textbooks.

Many classes give students the opportunity to work at something concrete after studying the concepts in class. Some get to produce a finished product, in homemaking, for example. There they make garments they can really wear in the sewing units, and they prepare recipes for the class to sample in the cooking classes.

Science is usually the class people connect with labs because of all the equipment they use in their research. In biology, students view microorganisms under the microscope. Chemistry experiments involve testing out theories they have learned in class.

In other classes such as computer math, journalism and foreign language, students get an opportunity to get out of the textbook and get their hands on something.

DONNA GAINEY AND ERIC WALLACE work together in a cooking lab in homemaking.

TYPING IN A PROGRAM, Mary Costlow and Regina Washington factor problems during computer math.

RICHARD BUNDRICK AND JEFF TATE find out how good a chemist they are by burning off impurities out of potassium.

LISTENING TO A taped conversation on the headsets, Mrs. Claudia Vanis' fourth period Spanish class answers the questions in their workbooks. These questions are also answered orally.

TALA OSWALT STRINGS the names of the DNA bases together. This lab was started in class but the students finished the models at home.

PLACING THE WAXED copy on the layout sheet, Tim Vandegriff organizes the sports section for the Hi-Life. These camera ready pages are then sent to the Henderson Daily News who prints the school newspaper.

Job skills taught in different areas

Business courses offer training in techniques needed to function in office situations.

Data processing, a new course offered to students this year, introduced them to computers. They learn to input and output material from the computer. "Most businesses are going to computers and knowledge of them is essential," said Mrs. Lou Ann Standard, data processing teacher.

Another business course is accounting which teaches students to keep books. They work through a cycle of an accounting period, including opening accounts, taking care of transactions, and closing out books. Students get the necessary skills to be a valuable office worker or even keep books for his own business.

MR. TOM WALTERS, woodworking teacher, demonstrates to Earl Odom and Jeff Saywer how to smooth rough edges while making "what-not-shelves."

BILL STONE AND CEDRIC JONES draw machine parts in general drafting after they've learned the skills to complete the project.

DONNA FORBUS works on financial statements in accounting.

KELLY COOPER boots his disk to begin his program in data processing.

KEITH WALTON AND MATT FARLEY work with the robot in electronics. The robot was added last year, and students like to work with it, according to Mr. Scott Bauer, electronics teacher.

Students learn skills to last them a lifetime

One course, general electricity, is a pre-requisite course for electronics.

A person taking the first year of electricity works on different projects, such as building a miniature factory. The second year, students may take electronics, and work with a robot which in turn controls the miniature factory. These students also built a P.A. system this year. The industrial-type robot was an addition to the course last year.

Another training class is woodworking where students learn basic skills for working with wood, and hand and power tools. In the first semester, students have required projects such as tables, gun racks, and what-not shelves. In the second semester students design and build their own project, with the only limitation being that the project be able to go in and out the door.

Students are qualified for jobs as apprentices to electricians or carpenters. If they don't choose this as a career, then they still have skills to provide them with a life-time hobby.

MORA LY USES THE band saw in wood-working for making shelves. This skill could help him get a job or could provide profitable hobby time.

SWEPCO REPRESENTATIVE VENITA McCELLON demonstrates to Kevin Barton how the electronic generator works in a visit to the general electricity class.

TIMMY MAY AND JOE WARD welded a cattleguard as part of their training in ag. In the spring, these projects are entered in the Youth Project Show.

INSPECTING HIS WORKMANSHIP, Charlie Bridges improves his welding skills by working on a gate during ag.

GARY CONWAY SKIMS through his drivers ed handbook before class starts. These classes were held after school until 6 p.m.

JOHN REX JONES and Steve Fryman put up a display of crafts that the VEH students made to sell during their annual Christmas Open House.

WORKING ON THE INCENTIVE PROGRAM, Julie Roberts, Gary Whitaker, and Benny Townsend are disassembling telephones provided by the Sabine Valley MHMR, Sheltered Workshop in Longview.

BENJIE PATTERSON EXHIBITS his homemade Indian crafts he made in a club called Order of the Arrow, while Miss Treena Propes and Mrs. Ayree Stokes make sure not to miss any details. This group studies the culture of the American Indians.

Projects offer change from textbook work

"Oh I can't believe it, another project to complete, and it's due next week!"

This is a typical reaction when either long or short term projects are assigned even though they offer a break from the regular routine of textbook work.

One of the "biggies" most students are aware of even before their final year is THE SENIOR THEME. This is a six-week job that is required to pass the course. Moans and groans from this particular project have echoed through the halls for years.

One of the most in-depth projects is done in special topics in science where each individual selects a topic and conducts research on it for six to nine weeks and then develops a paper on the results.

Some classes have special projects such as simulation games. Advanced social studies played "Firebreaks Ground Zero." The class divided into Americans and Russians and tried to avoid nuclear war.

Other classes maintain on-going projects all year. The special education class assembles telephones and the arts and crafts classes work on a variety of projects both semesters.

A new program introduced this year by the drama department was "Kids on the Block." Toddler-sized puppets were used to educate school and community groups about handicapped people.

CHRYSTAL ROGERS, SUSAN BAKER, Delicia Gipson, Robert Watson and Marla Hale play a game called "Firebreaks" during advanced social studies. This game places the students in serious world affairs.

LORI HAHN MAKES various blood slides during special topics class.

RACHEL ARNDT AND Darlene Weatherton use the micro-fiche to gather information on the career choice they have made for their senior themes. The micro-fiche machines are located in the Counseling Center.

PAMELA AUSTIN PRESENTS her epitaph during Mrs. Margaret Moseley's English class.

SHANNON SHANKLE, RACHEL BONHAM, and Tina Young perform for the faculty with the "Kids on the Block."

New activities introduced in PE

PE classes had some new activities this year as flag football, golf and swimming were added to the recreational sports.

Through an agreement with the city, PE students were allowed to use Lake Forest Park just down Hwy. 64. They were bussed there daily and alternated swimming and miniature golf. The activities were a nice change for those hot days of August, but, of course, girls complained about getting their hair styles ruined.

Flag football wasn't exactly co-ed since there were separate boys and girls teams. One of the objects of the sport introduced this year was to help girls in learning some football rules.

Keeping physically fit and learning life-time recreational activities from country-western dancing to volleyball are the main goals taught in PE.

RUSSELL ALSTON SERVES the ball to his opponent during a ping pong match in the multi-purpose room.

ROBERT WASHINGTON OUT JUMPS Calvin Miller during a game of basketball as PE teacher Mrs. Tammy Massengale and teammates Cherie Thompson, Alice McGaha and Tommy McKinney wait to see who will recover the jump ball.

SHANNON HIERONIMUS TAKES AIM to sink the ball on the miniature golf course.

JENNIFER DALRYMPLE TAKES a swim at Lake Forest Park during her PE class. This was the first year swimming has been included in the activities.

RODRICK WASHINGTON STRIKES out after trying to hit the ball pitched to him during PE.

Who's Who top awards

Every year one student from each department is chosen to be named Who's Who. This selection is made by a decision of the teachers representing each department. The choice is made by finding certain qualities in each individual. Scholarship in the field each is to represent is the primary consideration, along with cooperation, school spirit, dependability, courtesy, honesty, leadership and conduct. These selections are kept secret until the end of the year when they are announced during the annual assembly.

TRES DOZIER LOOKS inside for a lob pass to teammate Collin Wade rotating down the lane.

THE DEFENSIVE LINE gathers around a Lion captain talks to the referee about call.

BOYS' VARSITY BASKETBALL Coach Brooks Dozier takes a time out for a different sport as he watches a Friday night football game at Lion Stadium.

JUNIOR VARSITY PLAYER Sue Williams pulls up to start the offense as teammates Belinda Neal and Diana Bishop get into their offensive positions.

Hard work doesn't always pay off for everyone as seen by the football team and the girls' varsity basketball team as they both were beat out of spots in the playoffs.

The football team took third in district after losing to Palestine and trying with Carthage. The girls' varsity basketball team placed second in zone and advanced to district playoffs to face the first-place team of their zone, Liberty Lylau, only to be beaten and knocked out of the bi-district playoffs.

On the other hand, hard work seems to have paid off for the boys' varsity basketball team as they finished with a 9-1 record taking first place in zone and advanced to district playoffs where they defeated Sulphur Springs. The Lions then advanced to bi-district action in game against Corsicana, which they lost.

As the last deadline went in, the spring sports were just beginning to organize and practice under the new rule stating that if a student made one "F" in any class other than PE, he could not compete for the next six weeks.

LOYAL SUPPORTER OF THE LIONS for many years, Roper helps measure yardage for a first down. The football team is only one of the groups that Roper supports as he attends and helps with many of the sports activities.

SECONDARY COACH JOHN BEAUCHAMP talks with defensive tackle Amos Odom and cornerback Lee Watson about controlling the opponent's offense.

TOBY MOON, CLIFF MALLARD, AMOS ODUM, Jerry Wallace, Cedric Jones and Kelvin White, six of the 11 starting defensive linemen, wait for the snap of the ball so they can rip the Athens offense to shreds.

Spirit of 'never give up' took team to third place

"Never, Never, Never Give Up!" was the Lions' motto and they stuck to it until the end. Although the Lions were placed low in the pre-season district rankings they never gave up, but instead were in the running for a playoff spot to the end.

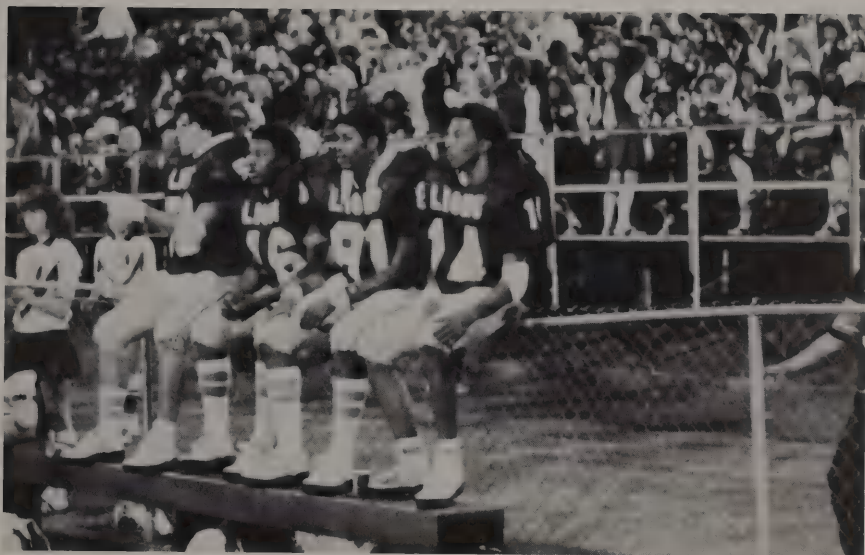

Although the Lions worked hard all season long and never gave up, they were left holding third place when district action came to an end.

Named to the All-District first team of offense were linemen Kelly Cooper, Michael Johnson and Pat Powdrill's honor was for return specialist. John Williams, Stacey McCoy, Kelvin White and Rod Pollard were selected to the first team defense.

Selected to the second team offense were Kevin Green, Joseph Bradford and James Cooper. Jerry Wallace, Amos Odum and Tracey Whetstone received second team defensive honors.

Receiving honorable mentions were Chris Love on offense, and Toby Moon and Cedric Jones on defense.

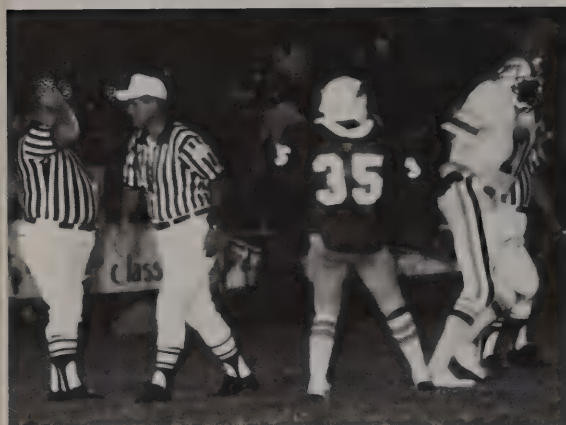

CHRIS LOVE, JOHNNY MALLARD, CARLTON Washington, and Pat Powdrill take a breather during the Homecoming game while the Lion defense does their share of the work. The Lions faced Mount Pleasant on home turf but failed to take the victory, going down 28-6.

GERALD ROY WATCHES the final seconds tick off the scoreboard during the Sulphur Springs game to find the Lions victorious 15-5.

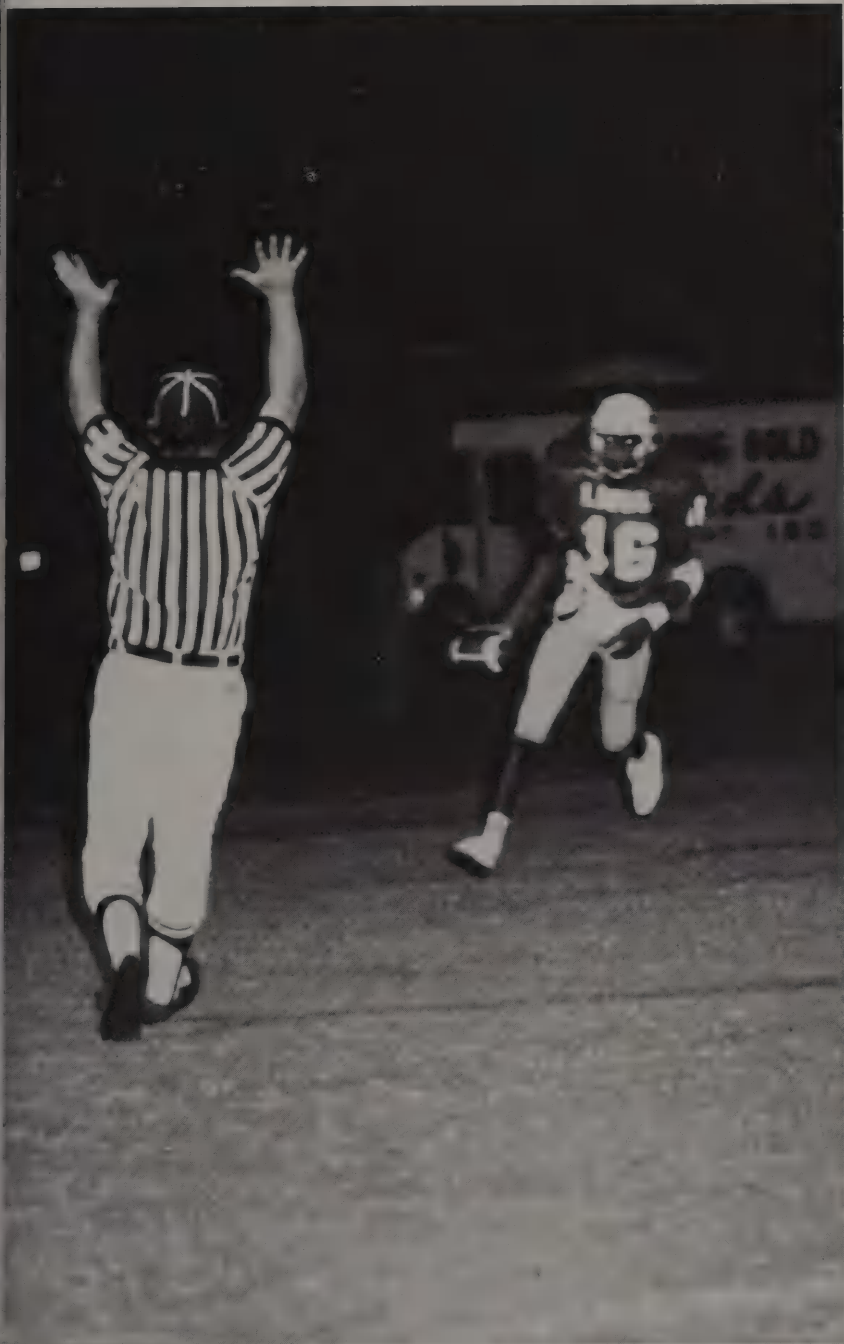

MANAGER CHARLES MOORE wraps Steven Goode's knee after he was injured during a game. Injuries plagued the Lions from two-a-days to the final game.

HEY REF! LINEBACKER STACEY MCCOY tries to get the referee and a Mount Pleasant Tiger together to settle their differences.

DED BY A 15-YARD late hit penalty and the help of Toby Moon and Vinson Henson o carried the ball 13 yards and 5 yards respectively, positioned the Lions for a third arter score. With 5:16 left on the clock, quarterback Pat Powdrill completed a 39-rd pass to Joseph Bradford. Bradford made the catch, stumbled and nearly fell before gaining his footing and entering the end zone to score the first and final time for the ons on Homecoming.

JUNIOR QUARTERBACK PAT POWDRILL resigns to the sideline after being sacked by two Mount Pleasant Tigers. The defensive play stopped the Lions' drive and forced them to attempt a field goal.

JV finishes 2nd in district season

The Junior Varsity finished second in district losing only one game to the Carthage Bulldogs 20-7. The over-all season record tallied out 6-4.

Considering the team lost several players who got moved up to Varsity to fill in for injured teammates, the JV finished strong.

"This was not a team of superstars, but a group that played well as a team," said Coach Jerry Holley.

TAKING UP THE LOWER section of bleachers each week at the pep rallies, the Lions ban together to promote team spirit and wait their turn for the battle cry.

Ladies take second place in district 8-AAAA action

JUNIOR CENTER HARRIET CRAIG shoots a lay-up over the defense as Charlotte Porter waits for a rebound.

If a team's pre-season is any indication of how the season will go, the Lady Lions knew they were in for a hard year. Facing state ranked teams such as Longview, Robert E. Lee and Gladewater, the Lady Lions had to really play ball to stay in the games.

After ending pre-season with a losing record 7-8, the Ladies had to pull out of a slump and get ready for zone action. The Lady Lions remained in the race for first place until they suffered losses to Chapel Hill, Carthage and Jacksonville which threw them into second place with a 7-3 zone record.

Since the Lady Lions were the second place team, they had to travel to and face Liberty Eylau, the first place team in that zone, for the District 8-AAAA championship. Because Liberty Eylau failed to press, the Lions were unable to get their fast break going, their main source of points and game plan, and came up three points short, 40-43, at the final buzzer giving the Ladies their final loss and a 14-12 season record.

Receiving All-District honors were Lo Foreman and Barbara Lee to first team, Cheryl Adaway to second team and Linda Fobbs received honorable mention.

"You should be proud of the way you played as a team this year," stated Coach Greg Gooding, "You should hold your heads up and be proud of how far we went because you were one of the two teams from Henderson who competed at this level of competition." This was Coach Gooding's first year to coach the Ladies.

"Winning bi-district last year was the big thrill of my basketball experience. This was a good year too, but we just didn't make it. Playing basketball has been one of the highlights of my school years, and a complement to my academic studies," said Senior Vicki Moore.

Lions take district, zone titles 2nd time

Taking the district and zone title for the second consecutive year the Lions were beat out of bi-district by Corsicana with a score of 58-53 at Henderson County Junior College in Athens.

Receiving All-district honors were Collin Wade, Most Valuable Player; Coach Brooks Dozier, Coach of the Year; Joseph Bradford and Rod Pollard, first team; Gerry Davis, second team; and Tim Hodge, honorable mention.

Having three starters, Gerry Davis, Joseph Bradford and Collin Wade, return from last year, the Lions were optimistic as they hoped to defend their district 8-AAAA crown. From the beginning the Lions were victorious, winning consolation in both the Lufkin and the Tyler Junior College tournaments and taking first in their own FCA tournament for the fourth time in five years. The district race looked as if it would be close as Jacksonville, Palestine and the Lions were all contenders for the 8-AAAA crown. In the first round, Henderson was 4-1 losing only to Palestine 54-53. The second round was a different story as the Lions went 5-0 and defeated Jacksonville in Jacksonville for the first time in four years and defeated Palestine in triple overtime before the largest crowd ever to see a Lion game.

After taking the district crown, the Lions faced 7-AAAA runner-up Sulphur Springs and defeated them easily 70-58 to earn the right to compete for the bi-district championship.

VICKI MOORE IS ONE OF THE GIFTED students in the science area. She was chosen by Miss Mary McCollum, science teacher, to compete in the Texas Chemical Council Science Education Program. Winners of the essay contest will be eligible for $500, and $500 for the school to buy new laboratory equipment.

SOME OF THE MIND BOGGLING SUBJECTS such as physics and science come easily to some students, and Robert Watson is one of these. Robert was chosen for the Bausch and Lomb Science award, which is given to the senior with the highest scholastic standing in science subjects.

Different students step up in their own unique categories to receive special honors in school and outside of school.

The most widely known honor during school is the election of Most Beautiful, Most Handsome, Most Popular and Best All Around. These elections began on a secret ballot with the entire school nominating different people. Then the top three nominated go on to yet another election to determine the winner of each category. But the suspense is kept for the student body by having to wait until the yearbook comes out to see the results.

There are other awards that students received during the year. Awards in science, art, sports, band, choir, and various other organizations.

People, people, and more people. That's what you find as you walk down the halls before school and between classes.

With a student enrollment around 1000, there is some difficulty walking from class to class in five minutes without getting into some kind of traffic jam.

Students here do not devote themselves entirely to school. They make time for their friends as well. They hang out on the breezeway during lunch or gang up at the mirrors before school.

No matter who a person is, they are still an individual and therefore they should have their place in the annual.

CHOSEN AS MOST ATHLETIC SENIORS.
Rod Pollard and Vicki Moore have a work-out in a game of jacks.

ROBIN SADLER AND JEFF BROCHU don't seem to be amused; however, their friends voted them Wittiest seniors.

THESE CUTE TWO, Valerie Hurst and Keith Walton were voted the Cutest seniors by their classmates.

BECAUSE OF THEIR taste in style and clothing, Brad Ross and Darlene Weather-ton were voted the Neatest seniors on campus.

JOHN WILLIAMS AND TANGELA GATES were voted the Friendliest seniors on campus.

TRAVELING DOWN THE ROAD OF SUCCESS, Susan Baker and Robert Watson fulfill their classmates' confidence in them as Most Likely To Succeed.

CHA-CHA-CHA! THESE TWO, Kevin Walker and Vickie Runnels, don't need any dance lessons according to the senior class who voted them Best Dancers.

MR. HARVEY CUNNINGHAM, superintendent, is responsible for the workings of the entire district. He must oversee every department and implement any new policies. Keeping a handle on all areas from transportation to personnel is a tremendous responsibility, and Mr. Cunningham has been dedicated to the job since he became superintendent in 1971.

Top officials wrestle with HB 72

House Bill 72 was dropped into the laps of school administrators this summer by the state legislature giving them short notice to comply with its provisions by the time classes started August 16.

Implementing the bill, evaluating its impact on the district and getting regular updates from the state offices added extra pressures to an already full load. In addition, plans to comply with the state curriculum, known as Chapter 75, were worked on all last year so that it could go into effect

September, 1985.

If that were not enough to keep everyone busy, there was also a building program provided for by the 1983 bond issue which was underway. Under construction were 12 classrooms at Middle School, four at Northside, four at Central, four at Chamberlain, and six at Montgomery. PE facilities were under construction at all of these schools including Kindergarten, and a new cafeteria was built at Middle School while the one at Northside was expanded.

In addition, a new bus shuttle system was instituted in the afternoon so that all students rode a shuttle bus to the Middle School where they then boarded the bus that would take them home. The plan was adopted to get students home earlier and to save the district money on busing expenses.

This year was a busy and trying one for those officials who had to see that standards were met and needs were seen for the future.

SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS are seated: Don Brooks, Bill Cochran and Pat Adams; standing, Tommy Goode, chairman; Jerry Bridges, second vice chairman; and Mike Wilhite, first vice chairman. Not pictured is Doris Threadgill, secretary.

MRS. HAZEL CARROL, assistant superintendent — curriculum and Mr. Jerry Christian, assistant superintendent — business, keep up with legislative action and State Board rulings that came out frequently this year.

MR. A. GENE SMITH, principal, talks to Mrs. Jane Wilhite about the Homecoming Dance and scholarship at the fall PTA meeting.

Principals have challenging year

Paper work and meetings were the order of the year, as principals tried to keep up with House Bill 72 and its provisions which seemed to be altered regularly.

A new grading system went into effect with below 70 failing. Absences were different in that students could make up work for unexcused absences and extra-curricular absences had to be tallied.

A tutoring program before and after school was offered for students who were failing. Also eligibility requirements were tightened, and regular grade checks had to be made on students competing in extra-curricular activities.

All this, along with the new bus shuttle duties and more detailed teacher evaluation kept the office staff busy.

RS. LISA BROOKS, typing teacher and rs. Linda Smith, counselor, pull out old emories as they dressed up for the 50's ring Spirit Week last year.

Counselor gets dedication for her caring attitude

Mrs. Linda Smith's deep concern for every individual along with her participation in school activities and her sweet personality put her a step ahead in the categories considered by the annual staff when choosing the dedicatee for the Lion's Den.

As a counselor, Mrs. Smith is concerned for the young adults' education. She works closely with students in order to find their interests and needs to prepare them for the big world after graduation.

Other than counseling, Mrs. Smith has worked with the Student Council and Newcomers Club in school activities. She gets into the projects herself whether it's running an election, dressing up for Spirit Week, playing in the NHS student-faculty volleyball game, or performing cheers in a pep rally as a teacher-cheerleader.

Because we feel that you have helped us with the many steps we must take in our high school life, we are pleased to dedicate this book to you as a gesture of appreciation.

LOOKING FOR THE PROBLEM, Mrs. Linda Smith and Mrs. Mamie Malone, cafeteria manager, try to get the microphone to work so that aptitude testing of sophomores can begin. Administering tests and working with other teachers and counselors to get their tests given is a big part of her job.

MRS. LINDA SMITH WITH THE HELP of her daughter, Alicia, carry the roses for each duchess and the dozen roses for the Homecoming Queen.

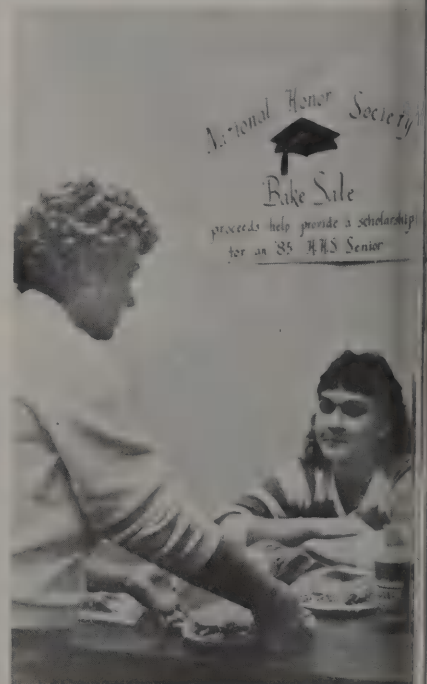

THE FHA HAD a teacher appreciation day in the homemaking room. The teachers were served with snacks and drinks. Sophomore Robert Washington gives Mrs. Mozelle Daniels, counselor, her punch as she gets herself a refreshments.

CHEERLEADER ROBIN SADLER got herself into a pretty uncomfortable position with the help of cheerleader Bra Anderson and mascot Tom Reed. The cheerleaders and drill team were given class period to practice their cheers and routines for the Friday's pep rally and football game.

THE FHA AND HERO groups celebrated their 40th anniversary during FHA-HERO week. The members each had a balloon with their name and what they have achieved written on it. All the FHA-HERO groups in Area 6 released their balloons at the same time, although Mrs. Glenda Currie said, "All the balloons didn't go up like they were supposed to."

IN ORDER TO GIVE THE SCHOLARSHIP the NHS had a bake sale, a school volleyball game, and at valentines they sold cupcakes. Vicki Moore convinced Mrs. Curtis Morris, librarian, to buy some cookies.

A school day can become very monotonous going five days a week, six periods a day, with one hour each period. Students would go crazy if it weren't for club days coming to their rescue.

There are a variety of organizations offered to the student body with only a few having certain requirements before becoming a member. Therefore, each and every student should be able to find some club that interests him.

Each club has different fund-raising projects for various reasons. Some use the money for scholarships and others use it for tools or equipment that may be needed for that particular organization. Groups may sell candy, sponsor school wide activities, or they may even do something worthwhile for the community.

ORGANIZATIONS

Publication work means pressure

Working on a school publication is not as easy as some may think. Hi-Life and Annual staffers put in extra hours and endure a lot of pressure to meet those deadlines that just seem to keep coming and coming and coming.

Both groups work to make the high school publications pleasing to the student body as well as UIL journalism judges. Last year the newspaper won the top rating of Award of Distinguished Merit with Kristi Easley winning an individual achievement award for columns. The yearbook won the rating of Award of Achievement.

To continue excellence in publications and to learn new ideas and techniques and trends, five staff members went to the UIL Journalism Workshop in Austin last June. Karen Hall, Kristi Easley, Benjie Patterson, Lynelle Soape and Collen Phillips worked 12-hour days at the week-long workshop. Karen was named top student in her class, and Kristi won two awards for pictures with one being the best print of the workshop.

KAREN HALL gets in the Christmas spirit by dressing in a Santa Claus suit. Because of Karen's small waist, she had to wrap the black belt around herself twice. Putting out the newspaper is not all work.

FHA goes to area, state meets

FHA participated in many area meetings in order to advance to state and national meetings.

FHA provides home experiences and members are involved in community work. FHA delivered a fruit basket to Leisure Lodge Nursing Home at Christmas.

They attended the area meeting in Tyler at TJC in Feb., then later in April, they went to the state meeting in Houston. The national meeting will be this summer.

KELLI ELAM, FHA PRESIDENT, and Mrs. Kermis Gooden, sponsor, look over the agenda for the FHA meeting.

BUILDING THEIR BURGERS, John Elam, Annette Benson, and Amy Hand really pile it on at the FHA Hamburger Supper where officers were installed.

HERO, DECA add projects

HERO and DECA, two vocational clubs, added projects and attended conventions to strengthen their organizations.

A new activity for HERO this year was a teacher appreciation project where club members delivered teachers a cupcake on their birthday. They also continued their projects with the elderly by decorating Southwood Nursing Home for Christmas. HERO member Lisa Bowdoin was the voting delegate and Vickie Runnels was an usher at the area meeting at Tyler Junior College.

DECA made a lot of their plans over pizza at Pizza Inn. Members attended the area convention where their competency in retail-related subjects was tested.

OEA, VICA support work programs

"SHE DID IT!", says OEA member Sharon Partin to Cami Hudson while Melanie Duran listens curiously. The OEA met at Pizza Inn for their first meeting of the year.

This year the OEA and VICA have been involved in various activities. They are the clubs designed to go along with the work programs of VOE and ICT for junior and senior students.

VICA took part in the annual fund raiser of selling fruit and turkeys and have had a number of meetings throughout the year.

OEA was also involved with the selling of fruit. At their meetings, they often had guest speakers who spoke on career interests. One speaker, Missy Hacker, showed the latest spring fashions for this year. Not only does Missy, alumni, work at the Smart Shoppe, she often makes trips to New York to buy the clothes for the store.

OEA MEMBERS Chanan Nilsen and Caroline Garner attend an OEA meeting at the Smart Shoppe. Missy Hacker was the speaker at the meeting and she showed the latest fashions and styles at the Smart Shoppe.

TA DA! Drill teamers strike a final pose at the end of their jazz routine "She Works Hard for the Money." These girls love to perform but always breathe a sigh of relief when the number is finished.

THE FINAL SCENE at each pep rally has the football team, cheerleaders, twirlers and flags lined up against the north end of the gym leading the student body in the school song. Over the years, this tradition has been established with each group adding its own special touch.

Cheerleaders, drill team take honors at camp

Having a class period for workouts was started last year and paid off for the cheerleaders and drill team with both groups taking high honors in competition.

Last summer the drill team went away with four first place divisions and sweepstakes at camp in Kilgore.

The cheerleaders also won all blue ribbons and a few others. In addition, having Brad Anderson on the squad, the first boy since 1968, meant they were forced into higher level of competition.

Brad was nominated for All-American Cheerleader while at camp in SMU. Not only was there a boy cheerleader, but this was also the first year to have a mascot. Tom Reed lifted the spirit with his clowning and energetic attitude.

JOINING THE LINE for the last pep rally, Captain Amy Wilder does the high kick routine with Penny Davis and Leslie Vines on each side.

PERFORMING A DANCE to "Lucky Star," head cheerleader Beth Taliaferro, shows the student body that they do more than just cheer.

CREATING A VARIETY of sharp and challenging pyramids throughout the season, the cheerleaders balance for the final yell "Come On Defense."

Twirlers, flags win high honors

Doing very well at both their camps, the twirlers and flag corps brought home high honors in several divisions.

The twirlers won first place in twirl division and dance-twirl division, while at camp in Kilgore. They also won 16 medals at UIL which broke the Henderson record and Region 21 record.

Following in the footsteps, the flag corps won overall competition and first place honors for learning routines during their camp in Nacogdoches.

MAKING THEIR WAY down Hwy. 64, the twirlers ride in Billy Soape's truck in the car parade.

TWIRLERS are first row: Angela Lutz, Kim Pennal, Lesa Blackwell, Buffie Bridges, Pamela Garmon, Angela Perry; second row: Cindy Green, Kristie Easley, Lynelle Soape, drum majors; Cindy Smith, Colleen Phillips

FLAG CORPS members are first row: Derenda Brooks, captain; Tracy Crim; second row: Renalta McCoy, Carol Gillis, Tammy Anthony; third row: Denise Floyd, F Deason, Renee Burnett.

AT THE HOMECOMING PEP RALLY, flag corps members Renalta McCoy and Renee Burnett show mixed emotions as they finish performing.

EVERYONE LOVES A WINNER and Drum Major Lynelle Soape and twirler Cathy Ziegler love winning. Relief mixed with delight were the feelings these girls had after the announcement that they had taken top ratings at Kilgore College twirling camp.

WITH A LOOK of anticipation, junior flag corps member Tracy Crim awaits the starting sound for a routine during the last pep rally.

CAN'T STOP LOVING YOU." The twirlers can't resist moving to the music as they form a chain while the song was played at the last pep rally.

Girls rewarded for school spirit

Pep squad members cheer for the football team to give them confidence in winning. Members of the pep squad were given small red megaphones for the spirit they showed at games. Each week a member was presented with a megaphone at the football game.

Receiving the honor of Miss Pep Squad was Sonja Hale and Mr. Athlete was Keith Walton. This was chosen by the drill team and pep squad.

The pep squad began work before school started with summer practices to get them ready for the year. Girls learned new cheers and pom pom routines to perform as a group.

This year pep squad did something new. They not only cheered at the football games they also cheered at the basketball games in a uniform of red T-shirts and blue jeans.

FRESHMAN PEP SQUAD MEMBERS get their first chance to lead their class in yells at the pep rally. After they caught on to what was happening, they were able to capture the spirit stick.

PATRICIA ANTHONY'S vocal cords get a work out at football games.

EITH WALTON AND SONJA HALE were elected Mr. Athlete and Miss Pep Squad by popular vote of pep squad and drill team.

SONJA HALE, Yolanda Gupton, Arlene Cleaver, Melanie Eills, Shannon Shankle, Denise Bundrick, and Tonya Overhultz are lined up for the pre-game presentation for the Homecoming Queen.

TINA PRIOR AND LISA HILL stand around and talk until it is time to go out on the field and perform.

MUSIC from the band accounts for a lot of the spirit at pep rallies particularly when they play the fight song.

THE BAND HALL is filled with students before the pep rallies as they get together their music and horns.

Band rehearsals start in August

Practice for marching contest and football season began on hot, summer days in August when the band began its rehearsals. They performed at half-time when weather permitted which it didn't sometimes this year during the rainy football season. At times the band was sidelined because of the muddy fields or marched in street clothes to keep from ruining the uniforms.

Marching contest in Nacogdoches was held on an asphalt surface for the first time and was moved up to October 31. The group brought home a II for its efforts.

All-region participants walked away with honors by placing the most musicians in the select band.

At semester, the band split into two groups and prepared for concert contest and solo and ensemble judging.

BAND MEMBERS Vinson Henson and Lisa Blackwell get a chance to watch the game in between songs.

DRUM MAJOR LYNELLE SOAPE leads the band in their half time performance.

Clubs raise money for convention costs

"Man Hours for Mankind" was the motto for the Kiwanis-sponsored Key Club which is in its second year of existence with counselor Ronnie Hardin as its advisor.

The organization sold candles and key chains in order to raise money to attend the Texas-Oklahoma District Convention in Fort Worth. Monthly meetings were also held and speakers addressed the club.

Future Teachers of America helped to promote careers in teaching. The club had guest speakers and made plans for a fund raiser in connection with attending a convention.

SPEAKING AT ONE of the FTA meetings, Dr. Jo Velvin, Central Elementary School principal, explains about her career and the work involved while Robin Sadler, president, and club members listen.

MANUEL RODRIGUEZ, Key Club vice president, and Lee Watson, secretary, attended a Christmas party sponsored by the Human Resources Center for Child Welfare in connection with a possible "Buddy" program.

Clubs sponsor varied projects

Library oriented activities are the major objectives of the Library Club. Club members made posters and book marks for National Library Week in April with "A Nation of Readers" as its theme.

Interested in theater arts is the Drama Club. Halloween make-up booths and Halloween skits presented to Montgomery Elementary School and Kindergarteners were sponsored by the club. Pictures were made during the Christmas season for students who were interested in this fund raising project. The club also made a horror flick at the end of the school year.

Several of the Foreign Language Club members attended the UIL practice meet which was an objective test for Spanish or French in grammar, vocabulary, comprehension, reading and culture. Karen Hall won first place and Monnie McGee won second place, both in intermediate Spanish.

GETTING THINGS TOGETHER, Mrs. Barbara Taliaferro, drama teacher, Rachel Bonham and Shannon Shankle load the car with the new puppets bought this year which they will use for a presentation on handicapped children to the Optimist Club.

DEEANN TAYLOR, MELANIE BASSETT and John Woods buy lollipops from a Foreign Language Club member. Each sucker was 50 cents and read "Je t'aime" or "Te amo," which means "I love you" in French and Spanish.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE CLUB President, Kim Bradshaw and Club Sweetheart, Karen Hall are escorted by Stephen Sloan and Dane Johnson as they ride in the annual community Christmas Parade.

Student Council, NHS have variety of projects

Together Student Council and National Honor Society are beneficial organizations where students learn independence and responsibility.

This year the Student Council did a number of state-wide programs to help out fellow classmates. The group sponsored the Great American Smokeout, which encouraged teenagers not to smoke, SMILE Week, which showed that people can have fun without alcohol and Safety Week which emphasized safety on the road.

As for the NHS, it had a bake sale that contributed to a $600 dollar scholarship for a senior member. They also raised money by selling "Halloween Insurance" to students guaranteeing clean-up of any Halloween prank.

CLEAN-UP DUTIES fell to Carey Bailey, Conner Wade, Karen Hall, and Kim Griffin after the Student Council-sponsored Teacher Appreciation Day. The students brought all sorts of "goodies" for the teachers to munch on in the main workroom the week before Christmas.

RAISING MONEY FOR their scholarship, the Student Council took Homecoming Court nominations for 25 cents each, the week before Homecoming. Kim Bradshaw and Collin Wade skipped their lunch to do their part.

DOING A GOOD deed for the day, NHS members Karen Hollingsworth and Lynelle Soape, with the help of Alan Conway, picked up toilet paper at Sheri Browne's house. As a money raising project, the group sold Halloween Insurance for $3 which guaranteed clean-up.

2 FCA groups have active year

Both guys and girls FCA groups were two of the most active on campus this year. The girls opened their membership to the support organizations including cheerleaders and drill team.

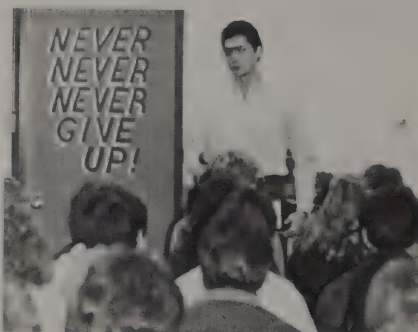

Under the leadership of Miss Nanda Dozier and Coach John Beauchamp, the groups went to "Game Day Witness" at Texas Stadium to see SMU defeat Texas A&M.

The group also had their traditional canned food drive at Christmas to help needy families. "People were very generous and we collected a lot of food," said Vicki Moore, president. Both clubs worked the yearly FCA tournament and honored Coach Dee Tamplin with the Distinguished Man Award.

MISS NANDA DOZIER, FCA girls sponsor, explains the activities and plans at the organizational meeting. This is the first year that girls, other than athletes were allowed to join the club.

SELLING TICKETS for the FCA Tournament, members Lee Ann Wilhite and Amy Wilder still try to keep an eye on the game.

GUEST SPEAKER KYLE JOHNSTON gives a devotion during a FCA meeting. The meeting was open to the student body and members met at 7:45 a.m. in the field house.

WHILE ATTENDING a combined meeting for guys and girls FCA members, Andy Mills and Miss Nanda Dozier, sponsor, discuss the plans for the SMU vs. Texas A&M football game. Taking a group to a college football game was only one of the many outings that the FCA had.

SORTING OUT ALL THE CANNED FOOD they collected, Audrey Johnson, Lance Gray, Diane Dudley, Vanetta Brown, Cheryl Adaway, and Sharon Brown, FCA members make up packages for the needy.

SMILING RADIANTLY, Carey Bailey accepts the bouquet and applause when she was named District FFA sweetheart at the meeting in Carthage.

MUNCHING ON HOT DOGS, Matt Farley and Eric Dragoo are the first to receive their food.

GRUBBING IN THE SHOP, Harriet Craig, Mr. Jerry Bacon, sponsor, and Pete Fredenburg enjoy good food prepared by the members themselves.

FFA enters contests

Future Farmers entered leadership contests, attended the Harvest Festival and showed animals at the Houston Fat Stock Show this year.

They also had two winners at the district convention. Tony Deck was nominated for area president, and Carey Bailey won district sweetheart and progressed to area tryouts. The Greenhands won sixth place at district contest in Gladewater.

DANA DEASON AND HEATHER PORTER have an after school treat at Polar Bear Ashburn's. Students can find a wide choice of ice creams, sundaes, and knickknacks at Polar Bear's.

SHOPPING IS A GIRL'S favorite pastime. Stores carry a variety of brands that suit different people's needs. Tonja Hammett matches different skirts and sweaters at Beall's for the look that she wants.

FOR THOSE IN A HURRY, McDonald's has great fast food service. Senior Manuel Rodriquez works in the kitchen preparing orders.

FRESHMAN SUSAN HAYS gets the new look. Carla Johnson at Betty's Style Mart cuts some twigs on Susan's new style.

If it wasn't for advertisements the yearbook would have a hard time with its budget.

Businesses have opportunities to buy one of four size ads in the annual, and the staff will help design some form of advertisement for their company.

Many places deal with a lot of students during their high school years, so they prefer to use pictures of young adults who do business with them. Some places also may use a picture of their employees, or their buildings. Others may just have a short write up about the business.

Whatever they choose, we are thankful for these businesses and for their support.

STUDENTS GOT AN EXTRA HOLIDAY this year. School was let out on a Thursday and when Friday came so did the snow. This wasn't the usual snow seen by Henderson, this snow kept on coming and coming. Even by the following week snow was still on the ground so students did not return to class until Wednesday. Students enjoyed the snow by building snowmen, riding three wheelers, and having snowball fights. Senior Dione Rowell had a snowball fight with her brother and neighbors.

AFTER COACH JIMMY WATSON, head football coach, announced the players for the varsity line, the team huddled up in the middle of the gym and did their own yell of "Never, never, never give up."

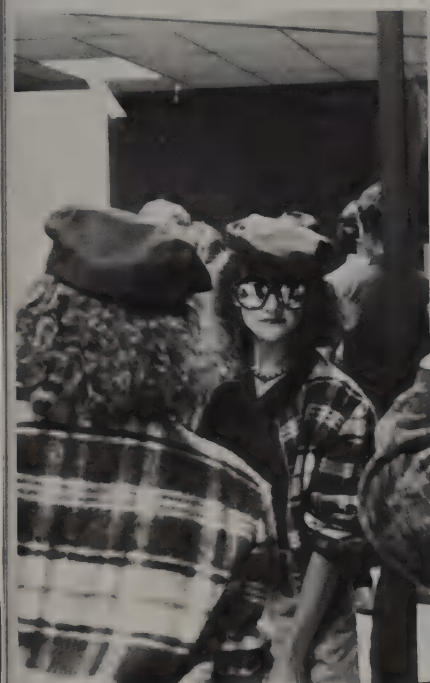

THE DAY WAS JUST TOO PRETTY for these boys to waste sitting in the cafeteria. Eric Rowell, Robert Dickerson, Chris Love, Todd Craig, Wyatt Griffith, and Terry Nicholas spent their lunch break on the breezeway.

ANOTHER NEW EVENT THAT TOOK place in the school's activities was an after school pep rally. Everybody met at the vending machines and waited for the drummers to begin. When the cadence started, the group of yelling people took off toward the practice field. The mighty stampede was led by cheerleaders Melanie Duran, Beth Taliaferro, Deana Manck, Carey Bailey, Pam Brown, Rachel Arndt, Angie Hodges, and Robin Sadler.

SOPHOMORE RACHEL BONHAM adjusts her hat to suit the look she wants. The hat and glasses were the extra necessities for her outfit during spirit week.

ONE OF THE FAVORITES at the pep rallies is the battle of the pyramids between the girls and the boys. The groups get on opposite sides of the gym, and plan their strategy. The whistle is blown and they are off. Of course the girls are undefeated again as the boys just can't seem to hang it together and tumble to the floor.

BIOLOGY IS A COURSE THAT DEALS with the study of living organisms. Tenth grade students find this out in their classes by really getting down to the nitty-gritty of studying something. This tenth grader is dissecting a worm, which is only one of the requirements a student must do in order to pass. Students must also dissect a frog.

Steppin' up — in everything is one thing that the student body did, and they did a great job of it too.

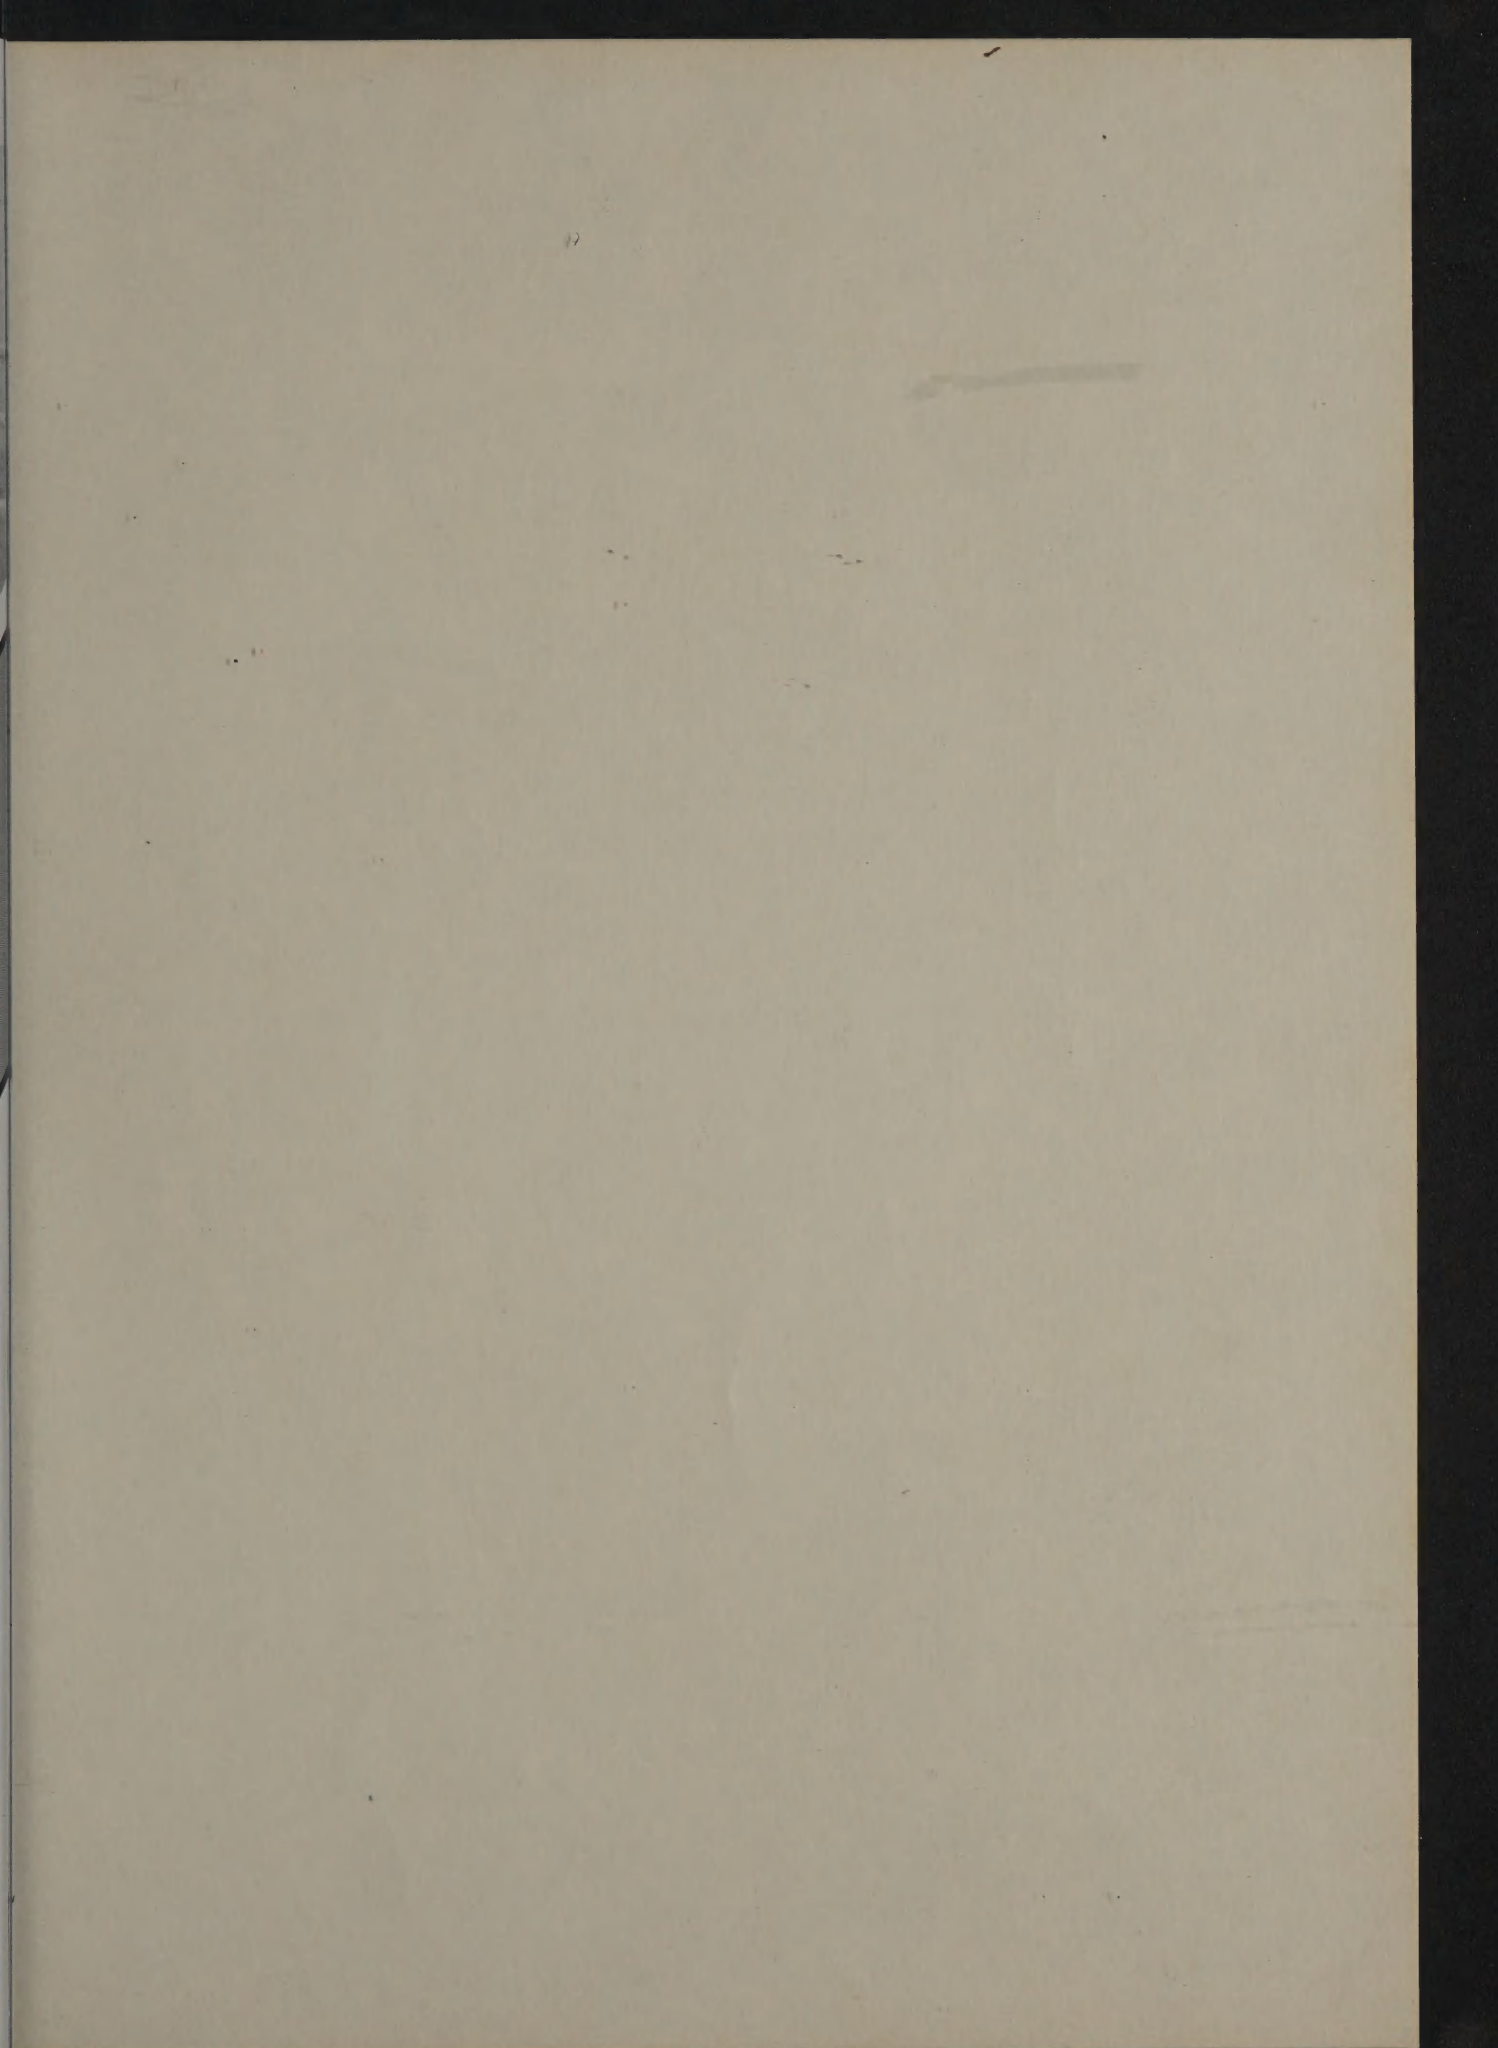

Students at first thought that all of the new rules were just to scare us, but by the second semester, we found out that they really meant business. We had to buckle down and really study in order to pass, and one flag on our report card meant we couldn't participate in extra-curricular activities. And nobody wanted that taken away from them.

School was not all work, the students had to have some time to relax and do what they enjoyed doing the most.

The new standards did help; they showed us what may happen after graduation. New things will approach us that will be different and harder from what we are used to, therefore, we will have to work a little harder in order to accomplish our goals.

We, the annual staff, hope that this yearbook will remind students, when they look back to it, the struggles they took, but yet the higher standards they set for the rest of the students who come through this school. We, the classes of '85, were the foundation of the long stairway that was to be climbed to excellence.

STEPPIN' UP

Tony,
 It's been a blast this year.
 We finally made it through another year. I have enjoyed going out & partying with you on weekends.
 You've been a good friend & a real cool dude. I can't wait till the summer more parties. Later on asshole.

Richard

Tony,
 Thanks for being
 such a wild & crazy friend. We've been & hope a long time + that way for many more years. Love ya,
 Rocky Rinko

Tony, has been a great year for me, I hope its been as good for you. I know see ya alot this summer, well probably both be in summer school. Don't party too much & stay out of the
 "what the hell!"
 House. Stay wasted!
